Approval Unhappy Surprise

New Farm Bill Puts Problem of Soil Bank Operation Before Ag. Dept.

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—There are signs that President Eisenhower's approval of the new farm bill largely caught the Agriculture Department unprepared to put the soil bank into effect this year.

The President signed the bill, with its $1,200,000,000 annual soil bank program, Monday. Secretary of Agriculture Benson outlined in a general way Thursday how it would work on 1956 crops.

But department officials said today it may be another 10 days or two weeks before the agency's local agricultural adjustment and conservation committees will be able to tell individual farmers whether they are qualified for the program.

They said top officials had not yet decided on regulations defining eligibility because of a conflict of views.

The department had done much work on the soil bank—a system of paying farmers to take land out of the production of surplus crops. But that work was done on the assumption that the plan would be offered before the spring planting season.

As it turned out, final congressional action on a bill acceptable to the administration came late in the season, and not without administration criticism of what it called congressional delays.

Offering the soil bank after crops had been planted posed problems not contemplated earlier, officials explained.

Benson told a news conference Thursday that farmers "in areas where crops are not too far advanced will be able to earn soil bank payments in connection with 1956 crops of corn, wheat, cotton, peanuts, rice and tobacco."

This was interpreted at the conference — and without contradiction from Benson — as meaning that farmers would be permitted to plow under immature crops regardless of their condition and get soil bank payments.

Department officials said later, however, that this was not necessarily correct. They said some top officials oppose payments on land which was already destined to crop failure or near failure because of bad weather or other conditions.

Making payments on land where crops were poor, some officials argued, would violate the intent of the soil bank, which is to obtain a cut in production for every dollar spent. Such payments, they said, would be drought relief, or poor crop relief, because nature had already reduced production on the acreage.

On the other hand some officials — backed by farm state congressmen — want the payments offered to distressed farmers as a means of tiding them over.

Benson was described as siding with the group that would bar payments except in cases where they would result in an actual cut in production.

Until this issue is settled, it will not be possible to draw regulations for use of local farmer committees in determining soil bank eligibility.

Under consideration is a proposal that drought-plagued farmers be admitted to the program, but at lower rates of payment than are offered to other farmers.

Mayor Presents Floral Crown—

Marcia Rissler Caps Big Year As Queen Of Dairy Day Festival

This is Marcia Rissler's year — first valedictorian of the Smith-Cotton 1956 graduating class and now queen of the Dairy Day Festival.

Marcia is petite and sweet, just five feet 1½ inches tall and weighs 98 pounds. She has a very lovely smile, brown hair and expressive blue eyes framed by long dark lashes. The crowd applauded loudly when she was selected by the judges and Marcia herself was so surprised she couldn't think of anything to say.

Dressed in a formal of light blue net with many ruffles forming the skirt she looked the part of a queen as Mayor J. H. Bagby placed a crown of white carnations on her head.

Marcia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Rissler, Route 4, Sedalia, and has one brother, Robert Lee, 24, who is attending Missouri University and a sister, Karen Sue, 11, who Marcia declares is prettier than she is.

She attended Camp Branch School and the year she was graduated there was only one other kid in the class, Bonnie Lazenby, who was also a queen candidate for the Dairy Day Festival. Bonnie seemed real happy over the decision of the judges.

In 4-H work Marcia is in her 8th year and belongs to the Quisenberry Hustlers. Now that she is out of school she plans to attend Missouri Valley at Marshall.

The two attendants for Marcia were Jessie Lindeman and Mary Alice Hutchinson. The judges had a hard time picking the queen and the two attendants and called back to the stage four girls, the other one being Alice Lange, who is also an unusually pretty girl.

The stage where the queen candidates sat was really something to see. The girls were in formal of pastel shades and made a lovely rainbow. They were all very attractive girls.

Don Lamm, general chairman of the Dairy Festival, who was master of ceremonies, recognized some of the people who helped to make the day a success. Paul Selken, chairman of June Dairy Month, Floyd Priddy, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Keith Yount, director of farm marketing, Bruce Claycomb, general chairman of farm marketing, Jerry Conway, Farm Bureau and Merle Vaughan, County Extension Agent.

Harry Naugel, in charge of the window displays, announced the blue ribbon winners and Miss Opal O'Brian announced the winners in the food demonstrations held Saturday morning.

The mayor was introduced by Jim Askren, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the queen candidate contest.

The two judges made short talks and stressed the wisdom of milk in the diet pointing out that milk is not fattening. The judges were Ted Riffie, from Maysville; Prof. O. E. Allen, from the University of Missouri; and Milton J. Hinkle, owner of KDRO-TV.

From the time the mayor escorted the queen of the Dairy Day Festival, her attendants and the other candidates to the ice cream social, people were swarming in for ice cream and cake, and there was a continuous crowd until closing time.

It was a perfect day for ice cream, warming up plenty by the time the social started.

Inside the Missouri Public Service building were huge wooden racks filled with cakes of every kind, and there were so many that counters were put in use, too.

Mrs. Frank Wagner, chairman of the social, Mrs. Anna Bagby, in charge of the cakes and their workers were busy as bees cutting and cutting cakes.

"Boy," commented one woman who recently has been watching her diet, "I'm really working right in the midst of all these calories."

Outside the ice cream dispensers were getting good exercise dipping and the Boy Scouts and 4-H members were right on the job wiping tables off and selling milk.

All day the cakes came in. Women of the rural district and in town joined in this project of furnishing enough cakes and there was no doubt that they reached the goal of 300 expected.

Dairy Day, really quite an affair, ending with the ice cream social and the square dance at Liberty Park for those who still had energy enough to dance.

Stormy Romance Sees Couple Happily United

NEW YORK (AP)—The stormy romance of 17-year-old Sydney Silverman and a high school industrial arts teacher twice her age took a happy turn Friday night with their remarriage.

Miss Silverman and George Wald, 34, her former teacher, were married in a religious ceremony at the Brooklyn home of Rabbi Norman Pauler. Their parents attended the wedding.

Morris Silverman, 43, father of the bride, had ordered the couple to stay away from each other until August. But Sydney talked him into advancing the date.

"I bothered him every day for permission to get married quicker," she said.

Silverman had Wald jailed when he learned of the teacher's elopement with Sydney last Jan. 9. Silverman objected to the marriage because his daughter was only 17.

Later Silverman agreed to drop abduction and rape charges against Wald if Sydney would keep away from him until her 18th birthday in August.

Wald was once divorced and and once widowed.

Entries For Driving Contest End Monday

The deadline for entries in the Sedalia Jaycees driving contest has been announced as Monday.

Those interested in competing must register with the Chamber of Commerce office.

Bryson 4-H Float Is Judged Best—

People Line City's Streets To See Parade on Dairy Day

It was truly a festive occasion Saturday afternoon when people lined the streets waiting for the Dairy Day parade. Clothes were colorful and so were the long lines of balloons in the hands of the youngsters standing or sitting on the curb.

The parade was colorful, too, with plenty of bands, perhaps the one drawing the most attention and laughs being the clown band with the solemn looking musicians playing all kinds of instruments and dressed in every kind of costume imaginable.

The float winning first was that of Bryson 4-H Club, which had a cannibal island setting and all over were brown skinned cannibals ready for a feast. The feast was a boy in a big iron kettle who, from the look on his face might really have been stewing. He was being rubbed with butter and a sign read "He tastes better with butter."

South Abel 4-H was second with a cow in the center and a sign which read, "Our Dairy Queen for 1956."

Smithton was third with a hayride with plenty of milk along and the sign, "We all drink milk."

Bands included La Monte, Hughesville, and Hubbard, all in their bright uniforms and with their little high stepping majorettes.

There was an old fashion survey filled with people and drawn by two white mules, and of course

Ex-Sedalian's Husband Killed In Kansas City

The husband of a former Sedalian was fatally stabbed Saturday morning by a fellow employee at their work at the Midland Laboratories in Kansas City. The victim was Ross Haynes, 56, whose wife, Bonita York, is the daughter of Mrs. Claude Harris, 1901 East 15th.

Haynes, a shipping clerk at the Midland Laboratories, was stabbed by Levi Henson, a 70-year-old Negro. It was reported the incident occurred over who was to use a freight elevator.

It was said Haynes had been using the elevator for several minutes and Henson became irritated because he wanted to use it. According to a witness Haynes attempted to end the dispute by telling Henson he was "too old to fight."

Haynes after being injured, walked to the office of the firm from the basement and asked for a doctor to be called. He died within a few minutes. He had been stabbed in the chest and stomach.

Henson was arrested by Kansas City police.

The Haynes family resides at 120 East Forty-third street.

Funeral services are to be held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Independence Christian Church.

The annual Sunday night get-together of the convention will be held in the new ballroom of the Muehlbach Hotel. The program committee of the Kansas City Lions made a special request for the Sedalia Club to produce a portion of their fashion show to give other Lions in the state the idea of home talent money-raising projects.

2 Missouri Ministers Get Honorary Degrees

MARSHALL, Mo., June 2 (AP)—Two Missouri ministers today received honorary degrees of doctor of divinity at the 67th annual commencement at Missouri Valley College.

They were the Rev. Robert Morrison Young, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Jefferson City, and the Rev. Rollyn Klossy Moseson, pastor of the Richmond Heights Presbyterian Church, St. Louis.

The commencement address was delivered by Dr. Thomas P. Lindsay, Linwood Presbyterian Church, Kansas City.

Annual Rose Show Is Held On Saturday

'Mirandy' Is Queen Of Show, Crowned By Mrs. Emma Koenig

Roses of every color and every type from the very newest kinds to the old fashioned were exhibited at the Rose Show Saturday at the Little Theatre sponsored by the Sedalia Rose Society.

The stage setting was very effective with a huge rose arbor up which were roses of different colors seemed to be growing. Stiffs of music were from post to post and different colored letters artistically told the theme of the show, "Melody In Roses." This was the work of P. L. Strole.

The queen of the show was "Mirandy," a large red rose grown by Mrs. Emma Koenig, for which she received the gold medal certificate given by the American Rose Society.

The silver certificate went to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brummett for the pink blended rose, President Herbert Hoover, and the bronze certificate to Leland Hoback for the dark red rose, Bravo.

One of the unusual things at the show was a rose bowl made by the late Mrs. Nannie Knight, in 1919, and still has its fragrance.

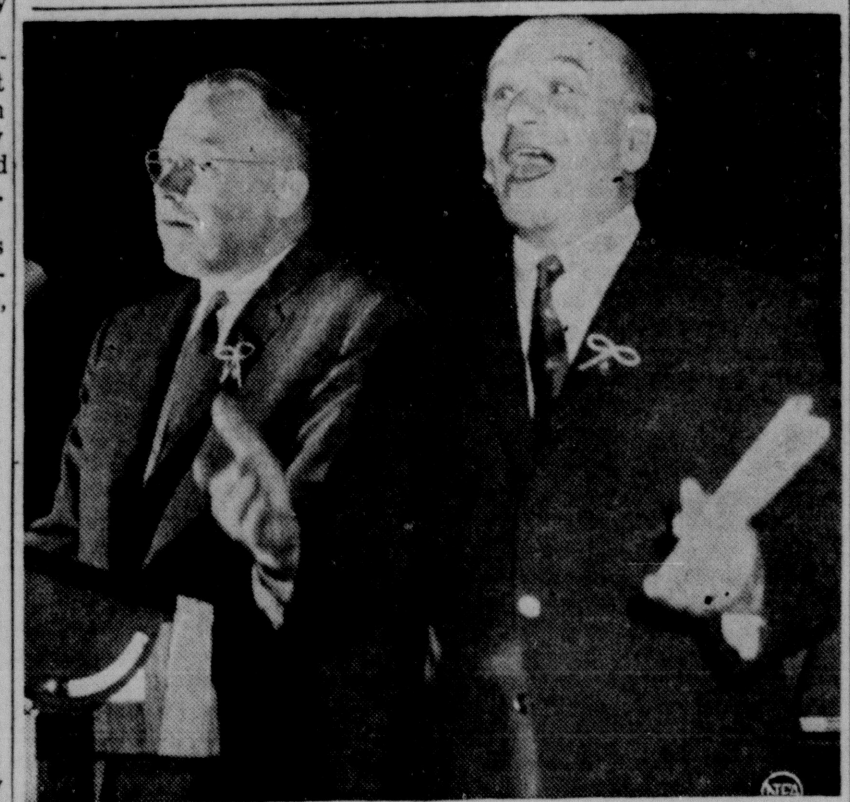

The specimen roses made a real show in the perfect form and beautiful colors.

Among the arrangements were those made with book titles which were all very clever. With the book, "One Red Rose Forever" was a lovely dark red rose in a tall bud vase with ivy curling on one side to the table. Another one that was cute was the book, "Can You Top This," with yellow and orange cover, with the arrangement of orange lilies and yellow roses.

In children's rhymes salmon pink roses were arranged in rocks and at the side was a little wall with Humpty-Dumpty, an egg with a face and pipe cleaner arms and legs. There was an arrangement of red roses and cedar with a red candle in a candlestick with Jack ready to jump over. There was an arrangement of roses in a shoe with children all around, and a little girl with her cats for the rhyme "Pussy cat, pussy cat, where have you been?" The arrangement with this was yellow and salmon roses with kitten ears.

There were other very beautiful arrangements in all classes, including Yankee Doodle Dandy with blue and white flowers used in combination with red roses and American flags. There were arrangements with baskets, April showers which were roses in crystal containers, roses in shells for the arrangements by the sea; White Christmas with madonna (Please turn to page 6, column 8)

Saratoga Makes First Sail Under Own Power

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—The aircraft carrier Saratoga, the Navy's newest and biggest ship, went for its first sail today under its own power.

The 60,000-ton vessel steamed from the Brooklyn Navy Yard through the harbor to a point near the harbor entrance. It anchored there until Monday, when it will take to the open sea for testing.

Baptists Close On Morality Emphasis

KANSAS CITY, June 2 (AP)—The Southern Baptist Convention closed today with speakers advocating a crusade for Christian morality and fidelity in the family.

Clifton J. Allen, Nashville, Tenn., editorial secretary of the Baptist Sunday School Board urged a return to New Testament teachings, declaring that moral corruption has enveloped "a large segment of American life."

"There is humiliating evidence that large numbers of church members have suffered the moral contamination of dishonest practices, sex familiarities and social jealousies," he said. "We are all exposed to the peril of this deadly contagion."

In the other address, Dr. H. Guy Moore, Fort Worth, Tex., minister, said the home that succeeds must be in harmony with God's purpose. That, he said, means being loyal to the highest responsibilities attached to "such a solemn venture as marriage."

"Too many want its pleasures, its freedoms, its sanctions," he said, "but only the license to enjoy it so long as it pleases them and makes no demands that are too difficult."

The convention session was completed with the selection of Louisville as the 1959 convention city.

In 1957 the convention will be at Chicago, in 1958 Houston.

Actor Jean Hersholt Dies In Hollywood

Was Probably Best Known For His Role As Dr. Christian

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Jean Hersholt, famed as a humanitarian, died today at his home after a long illness.

The noted actor, well known for his creation of the lovable Dr. Christian character, was only recently tendered a huge civic testimonial by the motion picture industry.

There he was lauded for his many years of philanthropy to the industry. He was a founder of the Motion Picture Country Home and for many years headed the Motion Picture Relief Fund.

Hersholt, knighted by the late King Christian X of Denmark in 1946, would have been 70 next July 12.

Most of the big names in Hollywood had turned out last May 16 to pay honor to the onetime Danish immigrant whom many considered the industry's greatest humanitarian.

It was a happy occasion for Hersholt but a little sad for the guests, many of them the biggest names in Hollywood.

They saw a man who looked like death was near. Mary Pickford, an old time friend, broke into tears when she saw him.

She later told a reporter: "Thank God, we are honoring this man before it is too late."

Hersholt, who had three operations in the last year, had left a sickbed to attend the testimonial which honored his 50th year as an actor.

His most recent illness stemmed from after-effects of an operation three months ago when he had his prostate gland removed.

Mrs. Allan Hersholt, his daughter-in-law, said the year-long siege with surgery was just too weakening. She added, however, that doctors had found no malignancy.

Yugoslav Chief Pays Formal Visit to Russia

MOSCOW, June 2 (AP)—President Tito of Yugoslavia, arriving for a triumphal state visit, declared today the Communist nations would never again be split as they were when the Kremlin tossed Tito aside in 1948.

Tito, resplendent in his gold braided marshal's uniform and with cheers of thousands of Russians ringing in his ears, said in a speech broadcast from gaily decorated Kievsy railroad station:

"The spirit of Lenin's principles of collective leadership are such that I am sure there never again will be misunderstanding among the nations of the Socialist Communist camp."

Standing beside Tito in brilliant late afternoon sunshine as he spoke were Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev, and President Klementi Voroshilov.

Others including newly appointed Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and the veteran old Bolshevik he succeeded, V. M. Molotov.

Tito came to Moscow to patch up what differences remain between him and the present Soviet leadership. There was wide belief that last night's naming of Shepilov, a friend of Tito, as foreign minister, had been timed to coincide with the arrival of Tito, who has little love for Molotov.

Thousands turned out to give Tito the biggest welcome Moscow had seen since the arrival of Indian Prime Minister Nehru last year.

Tito did not hesitate to refer to what he termed the "difficult" period after the 1948 break between Yugoslavia and the Communist countries led by the Soviet Union. Molotov, as foreign minister under Premier Stalin, played an important role in bringing it about.

Speaking in Russian with a heavy Yugoslav accent, Tito declared:

"We have come with the best wishes of our people. We were very happy to receive your invitation to see your wonderful country. It is not necessary to repeat that your efforts in constructing socialism have achieved great results. Since the days of the October Revolution and through the years of the great patriotic war the hearts of the Yugoslav people have been with you."

"Our history, old and new, has been full of suffering, and we can understand your suffering. Our ties have been strengthened in blood."

"Things were very difficult for us at one time, but we had faith the time would come when our friendship would be strengthened again."

Of his current visit to Moscow, where he trained as a revolutionary in his early years, he said:

"I am sure our exchange of opinions will establish mutual understanding between us. They will not only strengthen our friendship but the friendship of all peoples and the peaceful coexistence of all nations."

Financial Genius, Jesse H. Jones, Dies

HOUSTON, June 2 (AP)—Jesse H. Jones, 82, a Tennessee farm boy who built one of the nation's largest fortunes despite only a fifth grade education, is dead.

The wartime secretary of Commerce and head of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., died last night. His financial abilities had impressed three presidents under whom he had served, Woodrow Wilson, Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

As head of the RFC 13 years, Jones loaned over 50 billion dollars. As the No. 1 citizen of Houston, he built the skyline of the South's largest city, owning 35 buildings ranging up to 37 stories in height. He was publisher of the Houston Chronicle and owned three of the city's largest hotels.

Col. Beck Speaks on Relations Between Air Base, Community

The intimate relationship of an air force base and a community to the real mission of the air force in defense of the nation was the subject of a talk by Col. A. J. Beck, commander 340th Bomb Wing, Whiteman Air Force Base, before the Sedalia Kiwanis club at its meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker was introduced by Al Wuelfing, Vernon Bingham was program chairman. Jack Crawford was introduced as Kiwanian of the Week. He was president of the club in 1955. Victor Scott announced the first interclub golf match will be held at Booneville June 13. Music was led by Abe Rosenthal with Miss Lillian Fox, accompanist. The Rev. H. U. Campbell, Lexington, was a guest of Pinkney Miller.

Col. Beck in discussing the friendly relationship between Whiteman AFB, Sedalia and other Central Missouri communities surrounding the base, had the following to say:

"Our mission at Whiteman Air Force Base is to be prepared to conduct without delay long range bombardment operations to any point on earth. To do this job about 200 million dollars in resources have been placed at my disposal — 127 million dollars of these resources are in aircraft, almost 50 million dollars is in real estate and improvements. Equipment and supply inventory account for about 20 million more. In short, a lot of our tax money.

"Why we must invest our money in implements of war and destruction is quite evident to all of us, and this despite the efforts of Soviet leaders to convince us that we have nothing to fear. I am sure you have noted the almost daily overtures of the Communists — sometimes convincing overtures of peace. Invitations to our farmers, a warm reception for the Porcy and Bees troupe, the anti-Stalin farce; the happy visit of Malenkov to England; the unhappy visit of Khrushchev and Bulganin; the angling for an invitation to visit the U. S.; the announcement of a reduction in the strength of the Red Army; the announcement of the closing of slave labor camps; and the invitation to Gen. Twining to visit their air show. This steady drum of outwardly peaceful motions is calculated to lull us into a false sense of security and into dropping our military guard. If their intentions are truly peaceful, then why not release the hundreds of thousands of political prisoners still held in Red compounds? Why not eliminate the barbed wire and border guards which serve only to keep people in Red dominated nations — not to keep people out? Why not unify Germany or give Czechoslovakia free elections? How about Latvia, Lithuania, to say nothing of Poland, Rumania, and Bulgaria? Why continue arming North Korea in violation of the truce agreement? Why not take us up on a reciprocal inspection of military installations? With peaceful intentions, why was Malenkov's program to make more consumer products shelved in favor of heavy production directed by Khrushchev? The answer is clear and the need for our investment in military might quite obvious.

"But what of this 200 million dollars in resources? What kind of role do they play in our national defense? The answer is quite simple. In themselves they play no role. It takes people to breathe life into these inert resources; people to vitalize these buildings, aircraft, communications and supply; people to make them into a living, effective force for peace.

These people are your neighbors and friends, and their performance of the military job is directly related to the position they occupy in the community. A happy man is a good producer, and what man could be happy at his work if he knew he and his family were not welcome and respected members of the community?

"We here at Whiteman are most fortunate. We feel we are an integral part of the community and enjoy the warmth of being wanted. As far as I know there is no "base problem" in the City of Sedalia and certainly no "town problem" at Whiteman. Talking to an average airman at Whiteman, one senses he considers himself not "stationed at" Whiteman but rather living in Sedalia. Many Air Force families own their own homes here; their children attend school in Sedalia; they join with you at worship; in community projects—plainly and simply they live in Sedalia and like it.

"It is not coincidental that the success of our operation is in direct proportion to the success of our community relationships. With-out the wholehearted support, co-operation and understanding that we enjoy here, we would be unable to successfully carry out our mission.

"We have been growing up together for over three years now, and it has been my pleasure to have been here for two of those years. The first formal payroll at the then Sedalia Air Force Base was $45,000. By contrast today, the civilian payroll alone averages $100,000 per month and the total payroll averages better than $1,000,000 per month.

"We have grown greatly in these few short years. As opposed to the mere handful of people who were here in early 1953, we now have a total base population of just short of 4,000. Consider the families of our military personnel and the total is swelled by several thousand more who have joined the communities in this area.

"At this time almost 600 families of Whiteman military personnel live here in Sedalia. This represents almost one half of the 1,300 and some odd families who reside off the base. About 2,000 unmarried officers and airmen live on base, and from the traffic on payday, I would guess a good number hit Sedalia before the day is out. It might be interesting to know that 3,500 cars are registered at Whiteman. Sedalia automobile dealers, please note. Just for curiosity's sake, I called one gate to check on trucks from local concerns which had entered in the previous two hours. They were Tullis-Hall Dairy, Meadow Gold Ice Cream, Mid-Continent Wholesalers, Taystee Bread Company, Shryack-Wright Wholesale Grocers, and B & B Cleaners. If your firm wasn't listed, don't despair. I didn't check the other two gates.

During last year we spent some $2,000,000 for local purchases and at our current rate will exceed this figure by a considerable amount. We have found it much more economical to buy on the local market rather than pay the cost of warehousing large quantities of common items. I might add it not only is good business but it's darn good public relations too. Don't let me forget our local utility bills—telephones at about $25,000 a year and electricity at $10,000 a month.

"Enough about money. While it is important, I want our contribution to the community to be a lasting and permanent one. I want our mark to be felt in the continued, wonderful and friendly spirit of Sedalia. I want the Air Force family to continue to be a true member of the community and to take with them wherever they go some of our warmth, consideration, and understanding. I want them to continue to participate in community drives and projects. For I am convinced that the generous spirit of citizenship which is shared mutually by the airman and his neighbor here in Sedalia is one of the secrets that make the 340th one of the finest outfits in Strategic Air Command.

"Morale in a military unit is an indescribable and intangible asset and probably the single most important factor in a unit's success. The fact that we have a good measure of this asset is traceable to the harmonious relationships we enjoy. Be assured that Capt. Smith or Sgt. Jones is not going to forget your thoughtfulness in looking in on his family while he was away in England last summer. Nor is he going to forget the druggist who opened his shop at 3 in the morning to fill an emergency prescription for a sick child.

Those men who are reassigned

Graduation Address At Fulton College

FULTON Mo. — Commencement exercises for 111 Williams Woods College seniors will be held here at 4 p.m. Sunday. Dr. Edward H. Wyle, Kansas City, will deliver the address.

from here will spread the good word of your civic pride, your friendliness, your thoughtfulness wherever they go and new men arriving will already know of Sedalia.

Today the 340th Bombardment Wing is combat ready. It has proven its ability to carry out the assigned mission should that action ever be necessary. In no small measure that combat readiness is attributable to the support of you men — to the support of Sedalia. We at Whiteman are grateful and want to say: 'Thanks, neighbor.'

Doubts Change In Russian Foreign Policy

SALZBURG, Austria (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said Saturday he doubted V. M. Molotov's resignation as Soviet foreign minister and his replacement by Pravda editor Dimitri Shepilov would mean any change in Russia's foreign policy.

"I don't trust the Russians, if you want the facts. Molotov is one of the last of the old Bolsheviks and his departure can be regarded as the continuing turnover after a dictator passes," he said.

Truman met reporters at the village pub in nearby St. Jacob, where he is visiting until Tuesday as the guest of Stanley Woodward, former U. S. ambassador to Canada.

He said he was convinced that President Eisenhower "can and will be beaten" in November.

Pigeons Lose Safety Of New York Statutes

NEW YORK (AP) — It's every pigeon for himself in New York after July 1.

That's the date, the Health Department said today, when pigeons lose the protection of city laws and go into the same class as unprotected wild birds.

The pigeons are "too much of a nuisance," said the Health Department in explaining the law's change.

Southwest Boasts New 'Tissue Bushes' Thanks to Tourists Who Do Planting

FANTASTIC WONDERLAND of Bryce Canyon takes these visitors far from sound of highway traffic. But National Park Service rangers often have a busy time picking up the litter.

By KENNETH GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The tissue bushes will soon be blooming out in the Southwest, thanks to the paper hankie droppers.

U.S. Park Service rangers will be lowered over the ledges of the Grand Canyon to pick up beer cans. The clean-up squad at Yellowstone National Park will shortly be fishing tires and towels out of the geysers.

These are examples of the mess-up operation sloppy citizens will perform on America's national parks during the coming months, if past experience is any guide.

This year promises to be the messiest of all. And since the National Park Service is equipped and staffed to service only about half the record number of visitors expected in 1956, director Conrad L. Wirth is readying "Mission 66" to get the parks back in shape.

Funds for the first year of the plan, which is blueprinted as a 10-year improvement program, have virtually been assured by Congress. But Wirth is also asking help from the more than 50 million vacationers expected to roam the national parks this year.

"We hope some people will begin to realize that leaving trash or litter in the parks is worse than messing up their own back yards, for these areas belong to everybody," says Wirth.

One of the first tip-offs that the summer travel season is approaching is the bloom of what park service officials call "the great American flower." It's actually thousands of paper hankies carelessly tossed out the car windows to snag branches of trees and shrubs.

Rangers also have to contend with what seems to be an irresistible lure to toss something—usually a beer can—off the edge of the Grand Canyon, thus despoiling one of the nation's most majestic natural sights. They also toss anything that's handy, from coins to soap bars and old tires, into park pools.

Mission 66 will provide more manpower to cope with the trash-tossing public. It will also:

Blaze 1,500 miles of new trails to help hikers hoof it around back country without getting lost.

Build 300 miles of new roads and reconstruct 2,000 miles of existing roads.

Build 1,000 new housing units for park service employees, many of whom now are forced to live in slum-like quarters.

Increase park campsites from 12,000 to 25,000, making it possible for more than 90,000 campers to sleep in the parks each night.

Construct 96 more campfire circles and small amphitheatres where groups of people can get together.

"The campfire has a special meaning for America," says Wirth. "It gave cheer to the earliest explorers, lighted the camps of families moving West in their covered wagons, and radiates warmth and fellowship today

Bryson School Pupils Have Commencement

Graduation exercises were held last Tuesday evening at Bryson School, Pettis County District R-VII, Mrs. Charles Peterman, Knob Noster, teacher.

Graduates were Nova Rosebough, Robert Dhone, Joyce Kelly, Barbara Feaster, Billy Hurd and Mickie Carter.

The Rev. Luther Villars, pastor of the Knob Noster Christian Church, gave the address. There were musical numbers by the pupils with Mrs. Waldo Harbit, Green Ridge, as pianist.

paid by gradually increasing annual appropriations to a peak of $3 1/4 million dollars in 1966, with the total cost of Mission 66 reaching 124 million.

But even that may not cure the visitors who pay no attention to large signs reading: "Avoid Injury and Fines—Do Not Feed the Bears."

Last year 18 persons were injured, some seriously, by bears in Great Smoky National Park alone. Bears injured 45 persons in Yellowstone in 1954 and 75 in 1955.

"A bear often doesn't distinguish between a finger and a tidbit, and may interpret a generously thrown delicacy as an aggressive gesture that calls for painful retaliation," Wirth warns.

It could also be that the bears are annoyed by all those discarded paper hankies and beer cans.

Two More Families Enter Yard Contest

There are two more entries in the "Yard of the Month" contest, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. The new entries are Mr. and Mrs. Austin Neville, 1201 South Wagner, for the month of June and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stephenson, 1718 West Fourth, for June, July and August.

The contest comes under the city beautification committee, of which Mrs. Herbert Seifert is chairman. This committee in turn is under the civic activities division, with Mrs. Everett White, director, and Aaron W. Haller, general chairman.

Entries may be sent to the Chamber of Commerce office, 113 East Fourth.

Must Read 15 Books—

Bookworm Vacation Reading Club Has Large Following

A steady stream of patrons have been flocking to the Boonslick Regional Library Headquarters at both Boonville and Sedalia. A part of the interest in reading is the result of the Bookworm Vacation Reading Club. Boys and girls who are members of this club are reading 15 books before the end of the summer. In fact, some have already read 15. They are finding many new juvenile titles on the shelves. Among them are such teen-age horse stories as "Jump-Shy" by Joan Houston, "The Sorrel Stallion" by David Grew, and "Bluegrass Champion" by Dorothy Lyons. Several new romances for the 16-year-olds are in demand. Among them is "Caroline the Unconquered" by Holly Wilson.

Youngsters and their parents are just discovering the many fine phonograph records for boys and girls. These include both story and musical records. They may be checked out for use at home. Most of the children's records are to be played at the 78 rpm speed.

Art displays have brought many adults to the Boonville headquarters. These are done locally and are worthy of exhibit anywhere. Everyone is invited to come in again and again for the exhibit has been changed several times and will continue to be moved.

The Sedalia headquarters has been made much more attractive by the addition of 26 more sections of shelving. Books that were stacked in the back of the library are now freely available to the public.

According to Miss Verna Nistendirk, librarian, the Boonslick Regional Library has accumulated 35,700 books as well as periodicals, pictures, phonograph records and viewmaster reels. Membership in the Missouri Libraries Film Cooperative provides 24 16 mm films each month. Two Canadian films and numerous loans from the State Health Department and other agencies gives a varied collection of film. The library owns and lends for group use within the area two 16 mm projectors and two film-strip projectors. It also lends a record player which attaches to the projector for its amplifier.

During April 15,501 books were circulated in the area. 10,119 were checked from the bookmobile, 2571 from the Sedalia and 2811 from the Boonville headquarters. 39 phonograph records were used, films were used 62 times and 67 film-strips were borrowed. Projectors were borrowed 16 times by other groups and used by the Boonslick Library staff for 11 programs.

This week's bookmobile schedule: Tuesday, June 5 — Lamine, 9:00-9:45; Mrs. Geo. Fisher, 10:00-10:30; Blackwater, 10:45-2:30; Lawler's Filling Station, 2:45-3:15; Cotton Patch, 3:30-3:45.

Thursday, June 7 — Striped College, 9:00-9:30; Mosby, 9:45-10:15; Bunker Hill Crossroads, 10:30-11:12:00; Bryson, 1:00-1:30; Green Ridge, 1:45-4:00; Theodore Mergen, 4:15-4:30.

St. Louis University Sells Stadium Tract

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis University has sold most of its Oakland Stadium property to private interests.

The purchasers in the deal, effective Oct. 1, are the Falstaff Brewing Corp., the Merchants Exchange, and real estate dealers Harold W. and Melvin Dubinsky. The property is now leased to Thomas M. Packs Amusements.

The Very Rev. Paul C. Reinert, S. J., university president, said in announcing the sale Friday that the stadium is too far from the main campus and doesn't fit in with the university's expansion plans.

The university retained one tract now occupied by educational TV station KETC and another for future expansion of St. Louis University High School.

Death Boxes For Children

Just because there haven't been any refrigerator-deaths in Central Missouri doesn't mean that children in this area are invulnerable to such horrible tragedies.

Repeatedly items appear in the daily press telling of one or more children at play being trapped accidentally in an abandoned refrigerator. Such boxes make good hiding places or make-believe jails.

Warning by parents to children against playing in refrigerators they may find abandoned or out of use on porches of vacant houses, in backyards, vacant lots, dumps or junk yards, seems almost as futile as the gas company warning parents against hunting with a lighted match for a gas leak around a stove or in a basement.

Children continue to die in abandoned refrigerators. Parents continue to blow themselves and others to smithereens by using matches to hunt gas leaks.

The toll of children's lives taken by discarded refrigerators last year was 18. These tots died of suffocation by shutting themselves in, or being shut in by playmates. Statistics show that in 1955 deaths of this kind were an increase of seven over the toll in the previous year.

The worst year for this type of death was in 1953 when 29 children perished. During the past decade 110 children between the ages of two and 12 years died from this cause.

Since the big toll of 1953 national attention has been attracted to the hazard of abandoned refrigerators. A campaign of publicity has made parents more conscious of their responsibility to teach children about the dangers of the death box.

A 50 per cent reduction in the number of deaths in one year is quite an accomplishment, yet 18 deaths is still too many.

Now individual manufacturers of refrigerators have recognized the problem, and some members of the industry are moving to eliminate the danger. One company has equipped its 1956 line of household refrigerators with magnetic-type doors that can be opened from the inside by the instinctive action of a small child kicking or pushing against them.

This is a step in the right direction, but there are plenty of old models that will be potential death traps for years to come.

Another step that may help is enactment of legislation in all of the states to prevent discarded refrigerators from being a menace to children. Bills have been introduced in the Senate to encourage states to take safety action by requiring the removal of doors or fasteners, or both, before a refrigerator may be discarded on a public dump or other place of disposal.

One would hardly believe that each year two million or more refrigerators are abandoned in the United States. Enforcing legislation against them is difficult, and may never be wholly effective.

The real solution will come by efforts of the manufacturer to make refrigerators child-safe before they leave the production line, and the everlasting alertness of parents in warning their children against abandoned refrigerators they may encounter during vacation play time, or any other period of the year.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Seaton May Reverse Interior Giveaways

(Editor's Note—The brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, today goes to Fred Seaton, newly appointed Secretary of the Interior.)

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Fred Seaton, the new Secretary of the Interior, is one of the best men Eisenhower could have picked for that key spot. His appointment may mean a complete change in the so-called Eisenhower "give-away" policy. But tempers sized privately a bit among Old Guard Republicans when his appointment was sent to the Senate.

The opposition was not personal. It went much deeper and embraces the entire Eisenhower policy on tidelands oil, public power, natural gas, wildlife refuges, and even Hell's Canyon. Seaton was opposed to giving tidelands oil to the states when he was in the Senate and might well reverse Eisenhower policies as Secretary of the Interior.

Inside fact is that Seaton first tried to appoint his friend Val Peterson, another leader of the liberal GOP, as Secretary of the Interior. But when Republican leaders were confidentially sounded out 10 days ago, opposition erupted from old-line Nebraska Republicans.

Nebraska Bitterness
This climaxed a long series of attempts by Seaton to put his friend Peterson in high position, beginning just before he took office when Seaton urged Peterson as Secretary of Agriculture or Secretary of the Interior.

Ex-Governor Peterson, however, had run against crotchety, conservative Sen. Hugh Butler in the Nebraska Republican primary, and Butler would neither forget nor forgive. He blocked the appointment. He even blocked Peterson's appointment as U.S. ambassador to distant India.

Finally Peterson was appointed to Ike's White House staff, which doesn't require Senate confirmation; and later to the thankless job of Civil Defense Administrator, where he has done an A-1 job.

Peterson, a liberal Republican, also opposed the natural gas lobby and the tidelands oil lobby. So last week Nebraska Senators Curtis and Hruska not only frowned on him as Secretary of the Interior, but sent word back to the White House that the man to appoint was another Nebraskan, Clarence Davis, now Undersecretary of the Interior.

Davis, however, was frowned on by Seaton and other White House advisers just as much as Peterson was frowned on by Curtis and Hruska.

For Davis had been closely identified with the Al Sarena giveaway of the Rogue River National Forest, with the encroachment of oil companies on wildlife refuges and with McKay's generous policy toward the private utilities.

So Seaton, in turn, blocked Davis. In fact, he had been pulling wires backstage for a month to keep the reactionary Davis from becoming Secretary of the Interior. Seaton's motive in this was not to get the job for himself. He had no idea that lightning would strike him. But in the end that is exactly what happened.

Tidelands Oil

When Seaton served in the Senate to fill out the unexpired term of the late Kenneth Wherry, it became known that he was not going to vote with the Gulf states and various Republican senators to give tidelands oil to Texas, Louisiana and California.

This caused dismay and indignation among gas-oil lobbyists. It was in the closing days of the Truman administration, and Senate noses were being counted to override his expected veto. So Governor Shivers of Texas called on Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska, who had appointed Seaton to the Senate, urged that Seaton be persuaded to vote for tidelands oil.

"I have no control over the senator's vote," Peterson replied, thereby winning the undying opposition of gas-oil senators to his own appointment to the Interior Department later.

Seaton was in Germany where he and his wife were adopting two children when the tidelands oil debate started early in 1952. But he rushed back in time to be recorded against the bill.

Small-Town Publisher

Seaton is a Midwest, small-town publisher who understands people as well as politics. Through his friend, Sen. Frank Carlson, he got to know candidate Eisenhower during the 1952 campaign and became one of his close advisers.

He was also one of his liberal advisers; joined the group on the Eisenhower campaign train which wanted to throw Nixon off the Republican ticket when his $18,000 personal expense fund was revealed.

Seaton did his best to persuade Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon not to bolt the Republican party, helped persuade the sometimes nervous Eisenhower that the press would not bite him; after election was appointed Assistant Secretary of Defense to hold the wobbly public-relations hand of Charlie Wilson.

In that job, and later as a member of the White House staff, he has handled tough and touchy political problems. He urged the firing of GOP National Chairman Wes Roberts when Roberts was revealed as a Kansas lobbyist. He was delegated to fire Ed Mansure as boss of the General Services Administration, was also delegated to smooth out the farm snafu, and went to Des Moines to persuade five Midwest governors not to censure the Eisenhower administration on farm policies.

Seaton's policies as Secretary of the Interior should be almost directly opposite to those of generous Doug McKay.

Thought for Today—

Frogman Incident Shows Intelligence Slip

ANTHONY EDEN: Who was there left to discipline?

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON —(NEA)—The British secret services were once considered to be the world's best. Today, they are no match for the Russians and unless sharply improved bid fair to trail the Abyssinians.

They allowed atom spy Klaus Fuchs to work unhindered for four years after his name had been mentioned in a Canadian spy inquiry. They let Bruno Pontecorvo and Donald Maclean slip through their fingers to Russia.

But it has taken the death or disappearance of a frogman to show up how incompetent British intelligence and espionage work has become. The vanishing of Lt. Comdr. Lionel (Buster) Crabbe, one of Britain's most famous frogmen, has created a first-class political scandal.

Crabbe, wearing a black frogman's suit and rubber flippers, dove under the Russian cruiser Ordzhonikidze, the ship that brought Bulganin and Khrushchev to Britain, as she lay in Portsmouth harbor on April 19. He dove presumably to take photographs of the cruiser's hull.

Crabbe was a "free lance" agent, working in speculation, with a friend from British Naval Intelligence acting as his "cover." But neither the Prime Minister, the First Lord of the Admiralty, nor any other government minister had knowledge of his venture, though it was loaded with political dynamite.

Somewhere in the murky depths of Portsmouth harbor Crabbe met a mysterious fate. His oxygen supply may have failed or he may have been electrocuted by equipment he carried. The world may never know.

What happened afterwards is an object lesson in what not to do when caught with your striped trousers down.

Blunder No. 1: Panicked by the rumors which float in Crabbe's wake, the Admiralty loses its head and announces that he has been killed while testing secret underwater equipment. Not having employed him for the job, the Admiralty is under no obligation to make the announcement. To make matters worse, they delay it for 10 days.

Blunder No. 2: At the Admiralty's behest, Portsmouth police tear out two pages of a Portsmouth hotel register on which Crabbe's name appears, threatening the hotel owner with prosecution under the Official Secrets

Acts if he does not comply. For officials who have nothing to do with Crabbe, the Admiralty's behavior is highly suspect.

Blunder No. 3: Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden steps into the picture with two conflicting stories. To the Russians he announces that Crabbe's espionage was "completely unauthorized," but almost in the same breath he tells the House of Commons that "appropriate disciplinary steps have been taken."

"Discipline" who? If Crabbe's activities were unauthorized and without the knowledge of government ministers, who was there left to "discipline?"

From the tangle of evidence one fact emerges: Britain is trying to make $15 million do a billion dollar job. The sum of $15 million is all that Britain budgets for her secret services, although she spends four and a half billion dollars a year on defense.

As a result, British intelligence, instead of employing professionals, relies heavily upon "free lancers" such as Crabbe, who was over-age (46) and out of training when he dove under the Russian cruiser.

In reality, British intelligence is an ungainly octopus composed of six tentacles, none of which seems to know what the others are doing. The Army, the Navy, Scotland Yard, the Defense Ministry, the Air Force, and the Foreign Office each has its own intelligence agency.

Each reports independently to the Joint Intelligence Bureau and the Combined Intelligence Committee.

The Joint Intelligence Bureau is a clearing house—a system of top secret filing cabinets on which all the agencies may draw.

The Combined Intelligence Committee is the nation's supreme authority on intelligence matters. It digests reports supplied by the agencies into "considered views" which are voiced in the Cabinet.

If nothing else, Lt. Comdr. Crabbe may have shown the need to streamline the octopus if it is to survive in the muddy waters where the nation's security is at stake.

Animals Banned

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W.Va. —The City Council has proposed an ordinance making the city off limits to cows, horses, mules, goats, sheep, hogs, chickens, geese, turkeys and pigeons. Too many farm animals in the city, the council says.

Dogs, cats and song birds won't be affected.

As Sedalia Sees It—

More Women Deciding to Run For a Congressional Office

By Esther Van Wagoner Tutty
Democrat-Capital
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — It's a good guess there will be more women in the next session of Congress.

More are running and already five new candidates have survived primary competition. Eight other new hopefuls face later primaries which run through to Oct. 6th. As filing dates have not closed in several states, there may be even more women deciding to run for public office.

All the 16 women now seated in the Congress are up for re-election, with the exception of the one woman Senator, Margaret Chase Smith, whose term expires in 1960. The current 84th Congress set an all time high in women's representation with 17 elected. (Mrs. Vera Buchanan (D-Pa.) died on Nov. 26, 1955.)

Big excitement is expected in two contests where both the Republicans and Democrats have pitted two women against each other for a seat in the House. The first doesn't happen very often. The first time was in 1934 in a tussle between Mrs. Roosevelt's friend Caroline O'Day and Republican Natalie Couch (Helen Hayes' friend). They ran in New York for delegate-at-large. The Democrat won.

This year, battles between two women candidates will be in the fashionable Chicago North Shore district now represented by the popular Marguerite Stitt Church who succeeded her husband in what's called "a safely Republican area." The Democrat woman who won the primary, on April 19th is Helen Benson Leys, wife of a University Dean and active in the League of Women Voters.

But the other two-woman contest, in Idaho, may create more national attention because the Republican pros actually talked two men into withdrawing from the race on the theory that "the only way to beat a woman is with a woman." So the Democrat incumbent in the first congressional district, Gracie Pfof, will meet formidable opposition from Louise Shaddock, well known here in Washington as the former administrative assistant to Senator Henry C. Dworshak. Although the primary is not until August 14th, these two are expected to be the winners even if others do file.

No longer is it a novelty for women to run for Congress although their chances of getting the nomination away from the men are still considered slim. Once elected, they seem to get reelected, usually with ease.

The five women winners of a primary for the first time are: Republicans Mrs. Davis Elkins (W. Va.), Mrs. Carl Smith (Fla.), Mrs. Florence P. Dwyer (N. J.); and Democrats Helen Benson Leys (Ill.), Grace M. Sloan (Pa.).

Other new hopefuls seeking nomination in future primaries: Republicans Louise Shaddock (Idaho), Jacqueline Cochran Odum (Calif.), Ruth Greenough Mosby (Mont.), Democrats Julia L. Crews (N.Y.), Agnes Geelan (N. Dak.), Cecilia Bittner (Calif.), Fay Porter (Calif.), Nada Novakovich (Nev.).

The 16 women now seated in the House are: 7 Republicans — Marguerite Church (Ill.), Frances Bolton (Ohio), Katharine St. George (N. Y.), Edith Nourse Rogers (Mass.), Ruth Thompson (Mich.), Delegate Elizabeth Farrington (Hawaii), Cecil Harden (Ind.); and 8 Democrats — Edna Kelley (N.Y.), Elizabeth Kee (W. Va.), Leonor Sullivan (Mo.), Gracie Pfof (Idaho), Iris Blitch (Ga.), Martha Griffiths (Mich.), Coya Knutsen (Minn.) Edith Green (Ore.).

Of these incumbents the two said to be facing the greatest opposition are Democrat Congresswoman Pfof of Idaho and Republican Ruth Thompson of Michigan.

Dr. Jordan Says—

Ancient Osteomyelitis Yields to New Treatment

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Osteomyelitis is a disease of the bones. It is known to have existed since the dawn of man because the bones of some primitive human beings which have been dug up have shown signs of this disease.

It is caused by a germ infection of the bone itself which destroys even this hard and resistant substance.

The disease is still with us but thanks to improved surgical methods, and the use of such preparations as the sulfa drugs and antibiotics like penicillin, it is becoming both less frequent and more commonly cured.

Up until the last three or four hundred years severe osteomyelitis in one of the limbs was usually treated by amputation—a remarkably radical procedure.

The disease was surrounded by superstition also and until the germ theory became understood, it was often treated with repulsive applications such as incinerated toads, fresh body lice, boiling oil, powders made from Egyptian mummies, turpentine, or herbs.

Maggots were commonly used in the treatment of osteomyelitis in the past because maggots eat only dead tissue and therefore were used to clean up the dead bone.

No one is attracted by the idea of maggots eating on their flesh even when the flesh is dead, but even today this treatment is used once in a while.

The many surgical treatments used over the years all were aimed at destroying or removing the dead bone and pus and allowing new pus which was formed to drain to the surface.

Ingenuously constructed instruments for boring into the bone and scraping out all of the infected material have been devised. New methods of attack on osteomyelitis now have been developed.

The sulfa drugs and the substances obtained from molds or germs called antibiotics are used with great success in many cases. Several members of both groups are useful in osteomyelitis.

By using the new antibiotics it has become possible to save many people with osteomyelitis from months or even years of hospitalization and repeated surgery.

For some, of course, surgery is still necessary and the disease may drag on with discouraging persistence. It is well to start treatment of osteomyelitis as early as possible since the disease, if long continued, may produce complications in the kidneys as well as in the bone itself.

Beatty Family Is Mystery— Local DAR Seeks Information On Revolutionary War Dead

By Mamie J. McCormick
Three members of the Osage Chapter DAR of Sedalia, Mrs. W. T. Bishop, Mrs. Ira A. Leiter, and Mrs. W. D. O'Bannon copied inscriptions from stones in the Providence Baptist Church cemetery in eastern Pettis County a short distance from Otterville in Cooper County one afternoon in October, 1952. One copy of these inscriptions was sent to the national office of the DAR in Washington, D.C. These names are often helpful in preparation of family lines. This project is national in scope.

Of particular interest in this cemetery was a group of graves which included the following: Robert Beatty, died June 10, 1837, aged 84 years, Napoleon Beatty born April 24, 1877, died March 29, 1853, William Beatty died Dec. 5, 1855, Wm. G. Beatty, 1833-1916; graves of General David Hogan and his wife Elizabeth. David Hogan was born in Bryant Station, Ky., June 17, 1781, and died Jan. 30, 1867. John Hogan was born in Kentucky March 2, 1790, his wife Ann was born in Pennsylvania Oct. 16, 1797, and died Sept. 13, 1869.

Mrs. Bishop and Miss Mamie McCormick, chapter genealogists, became interested in this group of inscriptions because that of Robert Beatty could have been the grave of a Revolutionary soldier. That is another project of the national DAR — marking the graves of Revolutionary soldiers. There are several known graves of these soldiers in the Cooper and Pettis County area. There are no residents bearing the name of Beatty in that neighborhood and published histories in both counties give no clue.

Officials in the local courthouses and their assistants and local abstract firms were the first groups contacted. It was found that in both Cooper and Pettis County Robert Beatty had entered land in the early 1830's and later deeded this land to his son, Napoleon Beatty. These early papers showed that Robert Beatty was a resident of Limestone County, Ala., at that time.

The Sedalia Public Library provided a WPA Alabama book, the index of which showed the Beatty name. A section on Athens, Ala., referred to an early building erected by Robert Beatty. A letter of inquiry to the local librarian in Athens gave a lead. A descendant of Robert Beatty, Miss Mary Elise Mason, a great-granddaughter lives in the house that he built. He was married in 1809 to Sallie Parrott. Their children were born in Alabama.

Census records for 1850 now made sense for Napoleon Beatty was listed as being born in Alabama as was his wife Cornelia. Their children were all born in Missouri. After Napoleon's death his wife married William Harley in 1854. It is noted on the marriage record that they were married at John Logan's home.

Through a visit with a descendant from the Hogan family it was learned that there was a kinship between the Beatty and Hogan families. From a descendant of the John Hogan family living in Kansas City it was learned that the youngest son of that family was Robert Beatty Hogan born in Missouri in 1837. The oldest members of the family were born in Alabama. Three were born in Kentucky and among these was an Edward.

From the probate papers of Napoleon Beatty's estate other items were gleaned. It appeared that he had been a partner in a store. This partner was White, evidently a relative of his wife, Cornelia, whose maiden name was White. Other papers indicated that their daughters attended the same private school in Boonville, Mo., (Adelphi College), as that attended by the daughter of James W. Crenshaw and his wife Elvira Winston. Elvira Winston was a granddaughter of Patrick Henry and is also buried in the Providence Church cemetery. Another reference was to bills incurred by Robert Beatty in buying supplies for his brother William. (An 1860 census record of Cooper County, Mo., showed that one Robert Beatty had been born in Pennsylvania.)

Mrs. Bishop has been contacting leads in trying to learn more about probable service records of Robert Beatty. The name Robert was not unusual and various leads were followed. Miss Mason, the descendant in Athens, Ala., did not believe that there had been any military service as their tradition was that he was born in Ireland and had come to this country about the time of the Revolutionary War. One contact in Pennsylvania indicated that there was service for a Robert Beatty in Huntington County. That was the county mentioned by the descendant as his place of marriage. Other letters were written to Beattyville, Ky., to secure leads. Another lead was a connection between a Martin Beatty believed to be his brother who had lived in Lee County, Va., and had been an early land buyer in Alabama.

This lead really was good. For through correspondence with a descendant of Martin Beatty who lived in Texas the pieces of the puzzle began to go into place. This woman made a trip to Virginia and Washington, D.C. She secured a photostat of a pension application Robert Beatty made in 1856. This Robert Beatty was a son of Edward Beatty who had died in Lee County, Va., in 1845. He lived in Cooper County, Mo. He referred to letters that he had from his uncle Robert Beatty as reference to war service. He mentioned that his uncle Robert died in this neighborhood (Otterville, Cooper County, Mo.). He refers to the fact that his father Edward had seven brothers. They are all deceased but one. His name is Martin Beatty, the youngest brother now living in Texas. Further—his father Edward Beatty and Robert Beatty drew two Hessian guns from Col. John Cason. Further—his brother William of this neighborhood died in December last (1855), son of Edward. Ann Hogan, wife of John Hogan, is a sister of Robert, son of Edward.

This information concerning the Beatty family ties in with a copy made from a Huntington (Pa.) County History in which is listed the names of children of Edward Beatty, Sr. A will is dated 4 May, 1796.

Researchers are waiting for a photostat copy of Robert Beatty's application for a pension for his father Edward. He also gives the

Most People Take Them for Granted—

Sedalia's Trees Are Outstanding Mark
Of Beauty for People Moving Into CityBy MRS. C. C. RHODES
Garden Club No. 5

When I moved to Sedalia, one of the most outstanding things to me about the city was its trees. Here where it is rather prairie; yet so many nice trees. Now I can hear some folks who just take everything for granted to say, "What do they amount to? They're just trees." Can you imagine what a desolate place this would seem if we woke up some morning and not a tree or shrub was left in Sedalia? You surely have noticed when a tree or two die, or are destroyed how it changes things and leaves such an awful void until others grow? And how nice in summer to have the coolness which trees help to make.

In August, 1924, I drove with my family to Yellowstone Park. One day when it was time to stop and eat our prepared lunch, the driver said, "I'm not going to stop until I come to a tree." It was so hot, and the horizon seemed a thousand miles away, and not a tree in sight. Even the birds were sitting in rows to stay in the shade a small post made. In 1924 one could drive nearly all day in Wyoming and not see a house, and almost not see a tree. It was a long time before we came to a tree—a very scrubby one—not much shade, but how we blessed that tree!

Years before I moved here, I had wanted two trees—a ginkgo and a mimosa. Then I moved to Cole Camp, and my neighbor had large mimosa trees. They were so close to her house that I had a better view of them than she. From my upstairs, I could look down on masses of fragrant blossoms. When I left there I had two nice-sized mimosa trees in my yard, which had been given to me by Miss Anna Stohr when they were two inches high. Later, Mrs. C. L. Carter gave me two mimosa trees which I planted at Warsaw. And now I have several small ones here at Sedalia.

But I yet hadn't planted a ginkgo, and I moved to Sedalia, and what do you know, there was one right next door in Mrs. Montgomery's yard. I began to think all I had to do was to wish for trees and then move. Dr. Dyer also has a ginkgo in his yard. There is a very large one in Miss Stella Crandall's yard. She said her father planted it about 75 years ago. I have stood near it in autumn when its foliage was so yellow that it seemed one was under a heavenly glow.

The ginkgo in Mrs. Montgomery's yard has such a romantic story that I must tell it. When she was a bride, her husband made a business trip to Washington, D.C., and Senator Vest broke a branch from a ginkgo tree growing on the White House lawn and sent it to her. She prized it very much and planted it in the back yard. It grew and did well. Later, they decided to build onto the house, and the tree had to be moved.

The hired man, when he started to move the tree said, "Now we must climate the tree." Mentally he viewed the points of the compass, and the side that was north had to be put north when it was reset. It stood the transplanting and kept on growing. So a tree that can stand all that is worth cultivating.

When Mrs. Montgomery told me this story, she also related this: "Not long ago, I heard over the radio a discussion of the Roman poet, Virgil. In his writings he had said when one transplants a tree, he should climate it. Now," she added, "that hired man hadn't read Virgil, but he knew that much, too."

Mrs. Montgomery has given me a branch from her tree for me to propagate. I have it in my little nursery. Now mine will be a grandson of the tree from which Senator Vest broke the branch. (If Senator Vest had just written "A Tribute to a Tree" What a literary gem it would have been.) You may think I made a mistake by saying "grandson" if you happen to remember Joyce Kilmer's verses:

"A tree that may in summer wear,
A nest of robins in her hair."

That is, you might think all trees are feminine. Well, they are not, and we are cautioned when planting a ginkgo, to be sure and plant the staminate or male tree, as the fruit of the ginkgo is very ill-smelling and also makes more litter to clean up.

At long last I planted a ginkgo this spring. I could go on and on talking about the ginkgo as it has been traced in fossils back to the age of dinosaurs. But I want to mention a few more trees.

I thought it very interesting that on our library lawn is an elm which is a scion of the Washington Elm. I read recently where the Washington Elm was chopped down in 1924. Now why? It didn't say that it had died. Wasn't there some one there to plead: "Woodman, spare that tree!"

I have a view of one of the grandest trees in Sedalia. It stands on Dr. Dyer's parkway. It is a magnificent tree. I am sure it is one kind of quercus. I shall get a leaf, if I can reach one and see just which kind of oak it is.

Other trees near me on Sixth and also south on Grand are lindens. I mean they are not so common anymore, yet they are wonderful trees. I did not see them as a child, but knew of them from history and literature. That most beautiful avenue in Berlin, lined with lindens and named Unter Den Linden. Poets spoke of lime trees which was a name for the linden. They are also called basswood and basswood from the formation of the fibers which was used to make cords and ropes, and also the wood was used to make wood-carvings. When they bloom, they are so fragrant, and bees love the nectar, and honey where bees have had access to lindens has a wonderful flavor.

A tree that is getting more plentiful now in catalogs is the Franklina. All of the trees now known by that name came from one tree found in Georgia, in the 18th Century by John Bartram of Philadelphia. He knew he had never seen a tree like it, and took a wood-cutting and propagated it. He named it Franklina for his friend Benjamin Franklin. Later they looked for the tree in Georgia, and it could not be found, so it is called, The Lost Franklina. The tree has been renamed Gordonia in tree encyclopedias. I set out one this spring, as it said that it blooms in the fall. Most of our trees and shrubs bloom in the spring, except Rose of Sharon, so I was glad to find a fall bloomer.

Being interested in "Landscaping for Beauty and Birds," I set out black alders this spring because of the abundance of red berries which stay on all winter or until eaten by birds. The tree is really a winter show piece, and to think it is native to Missouri, but is almost extinct. It is also called winterberry. If you find native ones to transplant to your grounds, take up several, as it is like holly and ginkgo—one has to have plants with staminate and also with pistillate flowers or there will be no berries for all your work.

As I said in the beginning, Sedalia was founded by tree-lovers who planted and cultured trees, and may their examples be emulated by new home owners.

Mrs. Myrtle Greenwood, knowing how I love trees, wrote this poem on a Christmas card to me in 1954, and it expresses the thought with which I wish to close.

"He who plants a tree plants love;
Tents of happiness spreading out above.
Wayfarers he may not see,
As they rest beneath the tree.
Gifts that bless are best;
Gifts that bless are best.
Plant—
Life will do the rest."

Sedalia A's Battle KC Fiddler's Here

Locals Seek Third Straight Win Tonight Against Kansas Citians

The Sedalia Athletics will go after their third consecutive win and a clean sweep of games scheduled with the top clubs in the Kansas City, Kan., Jayhawk League tonight at Liberty Park when the Fiddler's Inc., club comes to town. Game time is 8 p.m.

Righthander Joe Imhauser probably will seek the starting mound assignment for manager "Buddy" Thomas' Athletics with another righthander, fast-baller Bill Arnold, in reserve.

Imhauser, who was slated to hurl in the A's rained-out Memorial Day clash with the St. Louis Stars, will seek his second win in as many starts. He beat Chestnut Inn with a seven hitter in his first appearance. Sedalia's slugging catcher, "Salty" Schumaker, again will handle Imhauser's pitches.

Kansas City has a tough customer in store for the A's and a treat for Sedalia fans in their starting pitcher, Carl "Popeye" McCormick. The 23-year-old moundsman is playing outside professional baseball for the first time in three years and is currently enjoying an undefeated season with three straight wins. He chalked up a masterful one-hitter in defeating United Brooms 10-2 two weeks ago.

"Popeye" toiled with the Kansas City Athletics' farm club in Columbia South Carolina the last two seasons.

If the A's were members of the Jayhawk loop, they'd be playing the lead. Both victories of the young season for the hard-hitting Sedalians have been at the expense of Jayhawk teams. Chestnut Inn bowed in the season's opener, 11-4, and the 1955 champs, United Brooms, took it on the chin by an 11-0 count.

Winners of six and losers of only one game, Fiddler's are presently enjoying top-spot in the Jayhawk League. Fiddler's broke United Broom's early season winning streak by sweeping a twin-bill by 1-0 and 3-2 scores.

Manager "Buddy" Thomas plans to employ about the same line-up as used in previous games, but indicated he might juggle the batting order.

The Kansas Citians, managed by Leon Oshman, has a club nearly as young as the Athletics with an average of 25 years. Virgil Staponski, first baseman, is the oldest player on the Fiddler club at 31. Staponski has appeared in Sedalia for several years in semi-pro play as a member of various Kansas City teams.

Oshman has three other performers who have had experience in organized ball. Bob Steen, short-stop, played in the Brooklyn Dodger farm system; Fred McCollum, third baseman, played with Iowa, Kan., in the KOM loop, and Bob

On Golf

By FRANKIE REYNOLDS

The first of the annual Central Missouri Women's Inter-City Golf matches will be played at the Country Club here Tuesday when ten-member teams of Sedalia, Jefferson City and Fulton will start gunning for the championship now held by the Columbia Country Club team.

Beginning with the match here the four teams will vie for the lead in points and will meet at each of the other clubs on the succeeding Tuesdays.

The Sedalia C. C. women finished in third place in the Inter-City play last year, topped by Jefferson City as runner-up to Columbia, with Fulton in the fourth spot.

The yearly affair consists of 18 holes of golf at each of the participating clubs with an awards dinner to be held following the final of the four matches.

Four local Country Club golfers, Damon Hieronymus, Bernard Stanfield, Vic Van Dyne and myself, will be competing this week in the annual Missouri Amateur championship tournament at St. Louis.

Beginning with practice rounds Monday and qualification on Tuesday, the tournament will last through the week ending with the playoff for the title on Sunday.

Hieronymus, an annual contestant who plays a fairly steady game near par, and Van Dyne, an accomplished young Sedalia shot-maker, left for St. Louis Saturday evening with plans to get in some early practice and to make a pre-tournament survey of the lengthy 18-hole Meadow Brook Country Club layout where the tournament will be held. I'll be leaving this morning while Stanfield, recent winner of the Sedalia Country Club's 36-hole medal play championship, will arrive there Monday morning.

Hieronymus and Stanfield played in the event last year and missed qualifying by only a few strokes. Both, however, have hopes of making the grade this time. Van Dyne, after having paced the Smith-Cotton golf squad to the CMC title this spring, also sees a strong possibility he will qualify for the match play affair.

Jim Tom Blair III, Jefferson City, who has been gaining seasoning on the tournament circuit through the winter and spring, is the defending champion. However, his crown is not regarded as very secure in that he'll be the target of such fine amateurs as Tom Stephenson and Bill Webb, both of Kansas City; Bill Stewart Jr., former champion, of Springfield; Ed Loeffler, 1955 runner-up from Jefferson City, and a crop of other shots from over the state.

In spite of how well the Sedalia entrants finish in this Missouri Golf Assn.-sponsored tourney, we will have gained good experience from participation.

Moore Opposes Pompey Tuesday In Title Fight

LONDON, June 2—A trim and sleek Archie Moore, ominously quiet and short tempered after a month of hard training, meets Yolande Pompey Tuesday night in Harrington Arena in a 15-round world light heavyweight title fight.

The 39-year-old champion from San Diego, Calif., is a 3-1 favorite now. The odds probably will be 4-1 by fight time.

Bettors in England, where book-making is legal, were not showing much interest in Pompey, a 27-year-old Negro from Trinidad, who got the assignment of fighting Moore from former world middleweight champion Randy Turpin completely lost his form and punch.

Ryff Released From Hospital After KO

NEW YORK, June 2—Frankie Ryff, lightweight boxer of last night's nationally televised bout, was released from the hospital today after a night of observation. Ryff was knocked out by Larry Boardman, Marlboro, Conn., youngster.

Ryff was still out when Referee Barney Felix reached the count of 10 and Dr. Vincent Nardiello ordered the beaten fighter to the hospital—as a precaution measure.

Delph With Sky Raiders Baseball Team

Donnie Delph, who entered the U.S. Navy last fall, is now playing with the Navy Sky Raiders of the North Island Naval Air Station at San Diego, Calif. and has been having a fairly good early season of baseball according to a record received here. He is a former Ban Johnson and Junior American Legion pitcher.

Delph has been acting in the role of a relief pitcher although he has started in two of the eight games he has played.

In one game he was sitting on the bench when he reported he heard a familiar voice chattering at third base on the opponents' team. A closer inspection revealed an old team mate, "Buck" Bennett, who played B.J. ball with Delph.

"Boy it sure was good to see him. And let me tell you he still hits the old ball as good as ever. He should get picked up by some team out here. There are scouts all over the place watching all the time," Delph said.

The best game I've had so far was with the Naval Hospital team. I started on the mound and in the first four innings struck out 12. In the fourth inning one unearned run was all that was needed for the Hospital victory. He gave up four hits and walked one.

Delph's record shows a total of 28 innings pitched, in which he gave up 21 hits, there were two earned runs made off of him, eight unearned runs, struckout 36 batters, walked 10, was responsible for two victories and only one loss.

His second game in which he was the starting pitcher was with the Edward AFB in which he pitched five innings, gave up two hits, two unearned runs, struckout seven, walked five, and got credit for the victory.

The second game he received credit for winning was that with the Marine Corps Recruiting Depot, the game in which Bennett played, where he went in as a reliever pitched four innings, gave up five hits, one earned run, struckout three, walked one.

Other games in which he pitched as a reliever were with Point Mugu worked five innings; Naval Station three innings; NTC, two innings; Davis Monthan, two innings; and Camp Pendleton, three innings.

Delph reports the type of players he has been playing with and against, are a third baseman who goes to Baltimore as soon as he is discharged in June; their centerfielders enroute to the White Sox. Faced such players as John Oldem, of Seattle; Bud Meechem who played with Albany in '55; and a catcher who was the starting catcher for Hollywood, Calif., last season.

Delph's report is one which should interest young players about to enter the service for their " hitch."

He is the son of Mrs. Thomas Delph, 1808 South Quincy, and his father was the late Tom Delph who was well known in baseball circles in Sedalia during the 20's and early 30's.

Marine Base To Honor Late Harry Agganis

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C., June 2 (AP)—This Marine Corps base will honor the late Boston Red Sox first baseman Harry Agganis with the dedication of Harry Agganis Field here June 19.

Agganis, who played football and baseball at LeJeune in 1950-51, died last June of pneumonia.

A bronze plaque bearing a tribute to Agganis as an athlete and a Marine will be unveiled.

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

SEDALIA'S Little League gets underway Monday night with a big opening of the 1956 season. Team managers and sponsors of these Little League, Major and Minor League players are confident the brand of ball to be seen by these midget ball players will be far better than in any previous year.

The Little League is operating solely on sponsor contribution to the league for its teams, and especially from the donations the fans make when the hat is passed during the games. It is the donations that keep the lights burning and the balls paid for.

Money from the sponsors goes for uniforms and necessary upkeep and assistance toward the operation of these many Minor League teams.

Fans don't hesitate to drop a little silver and folding stuff too when the bucket passes through the crowd. It is for a great project in boosting these growing kids. They deserve every support given them—their entertainment to you is worth a lot more than you can ever donate to help the cause along.

The thanks of hundreds of parents goes out to those untiring men who give their services to the boys as managers, coaches and administrators of the League.

IF Bobby Case, former Smith-Cotton all-around athlete keeps up the pace in the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League he'll probably head up the hitters in hits, runs batted in and runs scored. The season has started off well for him to date.

In five games Case has been at bat 21 times, hit safely 10, scored nine runs and batted in five runs. His average for the five games is .476 plus.

Something else, if his hitting eye keeps sharp he may be the little fell in three baggers. He rapped out two out of four trips to the plate Thursday night and incidentally, the other two times were singles.

THIS week will see four Sedalians trying their skill at golf in the Missouri State Amateur Tournament in St. Louis. They are two "old timers" Damon Hieronymus and Bernard Stanfield, while two newcomers to the state tournament are Frankie Reynolds and Victor "Vic" Van Dyne.

Hieronymus has kept the Sedalia name in the tournament for several years, going more so for the "kicks" and enjoyment of playing in the tournament and seeing the other golfers. Not that he isn't a good golfer, but like many players on a strange course Hieronymus usually falls short a few strokes from qualifying. But never a gripe, but always "it was fun" from Damon.

Stanfield went last year to Kansas City, and likewise fell short of qualifying. He too, enjoyed it and as he remarked "I don't expect to win, but I'll enjoy it."

Both Hieronymus and Stanfield are steady golfers at the Country Club and play good golf, much better here than under tournament strain.

Reynolds, a young player who twice went to the State

They can be obtained during the day at the Concession office of the Missouri State Fair Administration building. Plans are underway to make it possible to obtain reservations at night, the ticket office to be announced late.

Rotary A Minors will play a practice game with the Optimist A Minors Wednesday at 5 p.m. at the Smith-Cotton diamond.

An appeal is being made by Little League officials for mothers of the players to donate their services by working in the concession stand during the games. This system of concessions operations has been followed yearly and is sought to be continued this season.

Golf Pro, Raymond Dodson, Found Dead

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 2.—Raymond H. Dodson, 46, former golf pro and driving range operator, was found dead today at the home of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Dodson.

Dodson was winner of the last Sedalia Invitational Golf Tournament held at the Country Club here in 1953. He was also a brother to Leonard Dodson, a Kansas City professional, who won the Sedalia event the previous year.

Green County Coroner Charles E. Seiferd said Dodson may have died of an overdose of barbiturates but that an autopsy would be performed to determine definitely the cause.

"I have not ruled that death was the result of suicide," Seiferd said.

Sedalia BJ's Lose To Moberly Team Here Saturday Night, 4-3

The Sedalia Ban Johnson team gave up two unearned runs in the ninth inning Saturday night to lose, 4-3, to the Moberly Miners on the Liberty Park diamond.

The locals went into the ninth frame with a 3-2 lead but Moberly managed to turn an error, two singles and a wild pitch into two runs for the victory.

Sedalia now holds a 4-2 record in Ban Johnson League play and remains in first place.

Today the Sedalians will meet Mexico there in a doubleheader beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Where you save does make a difference
Big events like weddings are worth saving for. And as over 15 million Americans know, saving in an insured Savings and Loan Association offers important advantages.
Excellent returns from your money is one advantage.
Another is modern, efficient, forward-looking service.
And, of course, your money is safe because in insured Associations your savings are protected by sound management and substantial reserves. They are insured up to $10,000 by the FSLIC—an agency of the U. S. Government.
These are the reasons why Americans are putting more of their savings account dollars into insured Savings and Loan Associations than anywhere else!
Whatever event you're saving for, start right now to enjoy the worthwhile advantages offered by your nearby insured Association.

Violent Storm Hits Connecticut Town

WINSTED, Conn. (AP)—Rambunctious nature took another swipe at this small northwestern Connecticut city Friday night in the form of a violent wind, thunder and rain storm. The damage, however, was as nothing compared with the flood that wrecked Winsted on Aug. 19, 1955.

Flooded cellars and disruptions of electric service caused most of the inconvenience last night.

Preparations For Vacation Have Bearing

Be sure to put the cat out before you leave on your vacation.

This reminder may seem a little farfetched but police officers say they have ceased to be surprised at the many things that people forget to do before leaving on a motor trip.

Superintendent of Missouri's Highway Patrol, Col. Hugh H. Waggoner said that one of the most important things to remember is to make a list of places you are going to visit and the dates, along with a description of your car and license number. This list should be left with a close friend or relative so that you can be found for important messages.

Col. Waggoner said, "There is hardly a day during the vacation season when our officers are not called upon to look for vacationing motorists who may be traveling through Missouri, and it is rare when the license number or description of the car they are driving is known."

"The time spent on these searches can be put to much better use in regulating traffic and enforcing traffic laws to make the highways safer for those who are taking a vacation motor trip," the Colonel said.

The Patrol safety bureau lists three other important things to do before leaving on a vacation motor trip:

The car should be checked to be sure it is in safe mechanical condition before leaving — brakes, tires, horn, windshield wipers and the electrical system including headlights and signal lights are among the important points to check.

In planning the trip adequate travel time should be allowed so that speed can be held to a safe rate and adequate stop overs planned to eliminate driving when fatigued or sleepy.

Persons traveling out of the state should become acquainted with traffic laws and regulations in the states through which they intend to travel.

MARINE ENLISTEES—These 13 young men from this area recently took examinations for enlistment in the Marine Corps and those who passed were flown to San Diego, Calif., by chartered plane, accompanied by one of the local recruiters, T/Sgt. Charles E. Erickson. There they will undergo ten weeks of basic training before being reassigned. They are, left to right: front row James R. Anderson, Gayle D. Wasson, Theodore W. Rasa, and Ronald A. Hoppes, all of Sedalia, and Richard H. Phillips and Leroy C. Elliott of Hughesville; back row, Emerson L. Harshbarger, Ralph D. Simon, James R. Crox, Wilbur Barton, Junior Ross and Charles Whitehouse, all of Sedalia, and Herman Heishman, of Dewitt. (Lewis photo)

Marilyn Monroe Avoids Matrimony Questions

NEW YORK (AP)—Marilyn Monroe sidestepped questions Saturday as to whether she and playwright Arthur Miller planned to marry.

"No comment, we're really good friends," said the movie actress as she arrived at Idlewild Airport from Los Angeles.

A newsman referred to the fact that yesterday had been her 30th birthday and asked "How does it feel to be 30?"

"Kinsey says a woman doesn't get started until she's 30," she replied, referring to sex studies by Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey.

Miss Monroe said she came here for five or six weeks of rest and then will go to London to work with Sir Laurence Olivier in the movie, "The Sleeping Prince."

Police Abandon Plans For Dice Game Raid

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The stakes were so high in a reported dice game Friday that police abandoned plans for a raid.

The tip was on a game during the lunch hour of workers on a project of the Alpha Portland Cement Co. in suburban Lemay.

Trouble was, police found, the game was atop a 109-foot-high silo-like structure. The officers decided any evidence would be well out of sight before they could climb a ladder to the top of the structure.

Wrap individual hamburgers in aluminum foil for picnics. The patties can be cooked right in the hot coals, and leave no dirty pans to take home.

Sudden Storm Topples Circus Menagerie Tent

FITCHBURG, Mass. (AP)—A sudden wind and rain storm Friday toppled a circus menagerie show tent moments after 2,500 persons had filed from the big top.

Four persons, two of them children, were hospitalized for shock and injuries inflicted by wind-whipped boards. Eight other persons reported minor injuries.

Police credited quick action of the circus owners, Cristiani Brothers, with averting a panic. Warned of the approaching storm the show in the main tent was shortened by 15 minutes.

Southwest Village Progresses From Idea to Reality in About Two Years

Clarence Stephenson and Don Anderson Form Partnership to Develop Area With Accommodations for 300 Families and Shopping Center; Addition Has All City Utilities and Streets Will Be Paved—Lots Average 90 Feet in Width and Range From $1,200 to $4,500

(Democrat-Capital Photos)

SECTION TWO

The Stephensons at work in office

Modern kitchen in one of new homes

Typical Southwest Village home

View of another kitchen provided

A little more than two years, a number of excavations, several miles of sewers, pipes, streets, curbs, tons of concrete and bricks, forests of lumber, hundreds of dreams and as many nightmares ago, Lucille Stephenson first mentioned the new addition that was, according to the original plans, to have a shopping center and a playground and picnic area, as well as the lovely new homes in the restricted district.

Southwest Village was just a plot of ground then with 32nd Street which is the city limits bordering it on the south, South Highway 65 on the east, the Country Club golf course and the Fairgrounds on the north, and some land which now belongs to the addition itself on the west. Now, the west is bounded by the road which has been named Clarendon Road and leads from 32nd to 16th. The name Clarendon was Lucille's idea, it was a combination of parts of the first names of the two men who are in partnership on the development, Clarence Stephenson, her husband, and Don Anderson. She tried to get them to name the addition that but they wouldn't, then she wanted them to name a street that, but they wouldn't, so when the road seemed to need a name, she gave it the name of Clarendon Road.

The first family moved into the addition in January of this year, just exactly two years from the time they first bought the land. Now there are about ten families there, quite a number of lots sold and houses in the process of being built.

The picnic grounds and recreational area, they hope, might become a part of the city park system, but it is definitely going to be a nice park this summer. The place being considered for picnic and playground area is in the spot they call the Keyhole, because of its shape, and the land around it. It is up in the northeast corner of the addition next to the Country Club golf course.

The proposed shopping center will have a 400-foot-long frontage and will be 200 feet deep with plenty of parking space around it. It will face Highway 65 and be back a little. Bounding it will be the new road that has been cut through along the golf course making a safer way in and out. Although they have had several interested business men ask about the shopping center Stephenson and Anderson are so busy trying to keep up with the housing in their development, that they haven't had time or money to get it started yet. They might let some contracting firm take it over if they would like but it would have to meet the S and A specifications and there would not be two businesses of the same kind allowed. There will be a street back of the section to give a drive completely around it. It is still very definitely in the plans but how soon they will get to it, said Lucille, they just don't know, by this fall, at least, they hope.

There are all city utilities in this addition, the regular hot mix has been used on the roads and streets, and there will be no additional assessments for streets. Everything is included. The smallest lot has a 70 foot frontage and cannot be subdivided. No one will be allowed to buy five lots and build seven houses on them. That is where the restrictions are. The lots are platted off and anyone buying in the addition may spread out as much as they want but they can't cramp up. The average size frontage is 90 feet and some are 100 feet. The lots range in price from $1,200 to $4,500 and the houses being constructed by the S and A Construction Company, built to FHA specifications range from $12,500 to $25,000. This includes landscaping, grading, seeding and shrubs.

The addition of Southwest Village comprises 160 acres and will accommodate about 300 families when completed. It is an industry in itself with a monthly payroll of about $125,000.

"Sometimes," says Lucille, "we wonder where it is coming from, but something always takes care of it."

Life for her, whose chief role was wife and mother, has become complicated. For instance, there are four different and separate accounts in different banks. Somebody is always putting money to the wrong account and there is a real tangle — she finds herself straightening them out in her spare time, around two o'clock in the morning. It has been a big job for all of them, bigger than they ever dreamed two years ago, they have had to do almost everything even to going through the legislature for a permit for pipes through the Fairgrounds, but that is now behind them. In front of them are more and more beautiful houses, varying from contemporary to conventional in style and construction, a nice recreational area and, of course, that shopping center.

Streets in the addition are Southwest Blvd., Highland, Wing, Plaza, Stephenson and Anderson avenues and Skyline Drive with more streets to be made as the addition grows.

The bluebonnet is the state flower of Texas.

Third in Home Tour Series—

Use of Color and Light Modern Furniture Give Home New Bright and Cheerful Air

Color is the thing that strikes you first as you enter the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Robinson, 1701 West Tenth, for the gay living room, with its light modern furniture, is as bright and cheerful as a cardinal in a forsythia bush in early spring. Gold metallic threads glisten in the bright red upholstery of the comfortable furniture and the walls are a soft green. At the front is a large picture window with green draperies.

A corner of the large room has been cut off for an unusually attractive fireplace of brick that goes clear to the ceiling. A niche in the brick wall above the fireplace holds a bowl of colorful fruit and on either side are candles.

Off of the living room is a bedroom with pink walls and brown curtains with pink flowers. The brown rug and brown bedspread with the pink dust ruffle carries out the pink and brown color scheme. Furniture of light wood in modern design makes a very pretty room.

A bathroom off of this bedroom is in pink and black tile with paper of pink and silver plaid. The pink shower curtain on to which are attached pink daisies adds a special touch.

There is no need for anybody to tell which room belongs to the boys. It is typical with natural wood paneled walls, twin beds, book cases and toys all around that would delight any youngster. A wise-looking Teddy bear watches over the room to see that nobody takes off in the red airplane that is poised for flight on the desk.

The next bedroom is like the living room, full of color and with large double windows that look out into the back yard. On the twin beds are beautiful spreads of American beauty shade and in the center of the floor between the beds a large rug of brilliant green. The walls are beige and beige print curtains are at the window. On either side of the window are nice big closets of natural wood finish and of the same finish are the four large drawers beneath the window.

Between this bedroom and the boys' room is a huge bathroom in green and black tile with cabinets of a darker green. The bathroom seems to have everything, even to the built in lavatory that extends on down to the end of the room to make a very attractive and useful dressing table over which is a large mirror. The bathroom window curtain is of white turkish toweling.

The kitchen is at the front of the house and delightfully different about it is the bay window in which sets the black and green breakfast table. A yellow bench curves around the windows and on the other side are chairs matching the table. The curtains are bamboo. The kitchen paper is green scenic and looking up there is a cheery glow of the yellow ceiling. On one side of the room is a long window which also has the bamboo curtains and beneath it is the sink and cabinets of natural finish with yellow formica top. On the other side of the room are the refrigerator and more cabinets.

There is another touch of yellow that adds a great deal to the kitchen as well as to the joy of the family. A bright yellow canary sits in his cage and sings or just tweets to anybody who happens to be near him. He looks like he just belongs in that kitchen and according to the family, he really does.

The dining room is between the living room and the kitchen and

Air Force Doctor Saves Youth's Life

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (U)—An Air Force physician was credited with saving the life of a 12-year-old girl who was hurt in a two-car collision at Troy, Kan., yesterday.

The girl, Judith Botts, Highland, Kan., suffered multiple injuries and loss of blood.

Col. Ralph E. Switzer, surgeon-general of the Central Air Defense Force at Grandview Air Force Base, was driving through Troy shortly after the crash and stopped to aid the victims.

He rode with the girl in the ambulance and twice restored her breathing during the 15-mile trip to a St. Joseph hospital.

Enlist in Navy

Robert Lorenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lorenz, Concordia, and Fred Allen Droege, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Droege, Concordia, will leave Sunday night for Kansas City. They will leave Monday from Kansas City to take their boot training in the U.S. Navy. They both graduated from the Concordia High School last week.

it, too, is pretty, with its green walls and green carpeting. The brown print of the curtains match the upholstery of the dining room chairs which is very effective.

The Robinson house sets at an angle on the lot and is of red brick. There is a bit of black wrought iron at the entrance and the bay window that adds so much to the kitchen is just as striking on the outside of the house.

As far as the Robinsons are concerned this is a dream home. They had just finished remodeling their home when Mr. Robinson saw this one. It was just what he wanted and Mrs. Robinson liked it, too. So they just bought it and moved in. If they had planned it themselves they probably wouldn't have been as satisfied for they would have been certain to have found thing about it they wished they had done or hadn't done. But this one, they just haven't found a thing about it they would change, and really it is a home that is so well designed it should please anybody.

Maybe they had to go through all the trouble and work of remodeling their old home but one thing sure all they had to do with this one was to move in the home of their dreams without the nightmares of trying to get it finished.

State May Need More Sales Tax Revenue

KANSAS CITY (U)—Missouri may need more tax revenue and it should get it by increasing the sales tax, the Missouri Public Expenditure Survey was told yesterday.

Edward Staples, survey executive director, reported at its spring meeting that the money will be needed if more services are requested.

"Studies we have made show that the sales tax can produce more revenue without unduly burdensome rate increases, while the state income tax can't produce more without an unreasonable increase in rates," Staples said.

The survey is a privately supported governmental research organization. Staples said there probably will be demands for more money for schools, for broadening retirement plans of state employees, for retiring the 75 million dollar bond issue passed last January, and for financing normal growth of all state programs.

Your Wardrobe

by Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

Continuing with vacation clothes, as useful as it is the little things that count. After your basic selections are made, add accessories. Have just the right jewelry for every outfit. Your shoes and purses should be well selected. Include smart head scarfs, beautiful flowers and several pairs of gloves. Your cologne and perfume should be just right and properly used. Have several shades of lipstick as you will need them. Take special creams or lotions for your skin as spending extra hours outside may mean a burned skin, so be prepared. Wear nail polish that will go well with newly tanned hands. Plan your wardrobe in plenty of time for your vacation. Try it on, see how it looks so you can make any necessary changes. A vacation is just that—a vacation, so be prepared for it. Nothing worse than being away from home and putting on an outfit for the first time, that doesn't look right and not being able to do anything about it. Be sure to include several cardigans, they are important especially around resorts. Happy Vacationing.

Negro Couple Head for Big TV Earnings

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — A Negro liquor store owner - insurance broker and his wife appear to be headed for the biggest jackpot earnings in radio-TV history.

Last Tuesday Steve and Dorothy Rowland won for the eighth time on Edgar Bergen's "Do You Trust Your Wife?" Each victory has entitled them to $100 weekly income for a year, and the end is not in sight yet. Because the income is spread over eight or more years, their net return will be more than the heavily taxed $100,000 and $64,000 winners.

The Rowlands, a personable, soft spoken couple, are naturally elated, but they remain level-headed about their winnings.

"We're setting up a trust fund to handle the money," said Rowland. "The money won't change our lives. After five years or so, perhaps my wife and I will take a trip. But most of the money will be held in trust for our children's college education and to give them a little nest egg to start out in life with." Their children are Steve Jr., 13, and Nancy, 11.

How were the Rowlands chosen for the show?

He remarked that the sponsor wanted a Negro couple on the program and the local office of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People was consulted. The Rowlands, who had been active in the NAACP, were

Hold Commencement At St. Paul's College

Commencement exercises will be held at St. Paul's College, Concordia, Friday night at the auditorium with 18 college students and 24 high school students receiving diplomas.

The college graduates will continue their studies at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, for the Lutheran ministry.

The Rev. E. C. Kieninger, co-pastor of Pilgrim Lutheran Church in a St. Louis suburb, will be the guest speaker.

Special recognition will be given for scholastic and co-curricular activities.

recommended. After three interviews, they were chosen.

"Indeed, I did trust my wife," Rowland remarked. "She answered 99 per cent of the questions; I only did the ones on sports and music. She did anything that required any intelligence."

"Of course, the questions aren't as difficult as those on the $64,000 question." They are seventh and eighth - grade questions. They came easily to my wife because she has been a school teacher and she helps the children with their homework. Also, she's an avid reader."

Rowland, 40, was born in Los Angeles and majored in business administration at USC and the University of Hawaii. His wife, 39, is from Phoenix and was graduated from Arizona State Teachers College. He is an Army veteran, having won a battlefield commission in Europe during World War II.

A superb novel becomes a superlative motion picture... "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit," starting today at the Fox Theatre. ## 4-H Round-Up with

BOB MASON
Pettis County Asst. Agent

Judging Day—July 6

The various 4-H members throughout the county that plan to participate in the 4-H Judging Day have barely over a month to sharpen up on. This event will be held at the Broadway Presbyterian Service Building this year and the leaders will have the time schedules in the near future. This column will also carry the various events and the times in the July 1 printing.

To really get some strong judging teams, it will require that members and leaders spend some time going over their project material. Judging is not just to see who is the best judge but instead should be offered to the member in the light that they are checking up on their abilities, sense of judgment, and knowledge of quality. It is a sad case indeed when a member goes through a project and then can attach no value to the end product as far as skills acquired and quality of project is concerned.

May we suggest that the 4-H pullet "Sharpen Your Judgment" be used as your source of attaching values to specific points in a judging class. Here's hoping to see your club well represented on Judging Day, July 6.

Report on Leaders Camp Conference

Pettis County was well represented at the Leaders Camp Conference which was held at Camp Bob White last Monday and Tuesday. A total of 34 leaders from 13 clubs sat in during the conference. I feel that the session was a success not from the standpoint of attendance alone but also from the material that was presented.

I talked to a leader who was there for only one day of the session and she told me that next year their club was going to have a leader there for the entire session. I'm sure that the leaders present had many points cleared up for them and I hope that all leaders who attended have a broader viewpoint of 4-H work.

I'm also happy to report that three of our four new clubs were represented at the conference.

Where Are We Going in 4-H Work?

I've had some reports that at present I have not checked the validity of some malpractices among the 4-H members and leaders with respect to dates on livestock projects. Certain dates are the anchoring point as to what class an exhibit falls into at the Livestock Show and fair. It is not the reports that upset me but just the thought that a leader or 4-H member is even considering it.

It goes against the cardinal principles of honesty and truthfulness. Even if a member misses a class by one day or a fraction thereof, he or she should abide by the boundaries set up. These dates must not be slid around to accommodate a few members while the majority suffer by abiding by the rules.

Anytime that we put the winning of awards, ribbons, or recognition up as the goal for a 4-H member to shoot for, chances are we are defeating our chances to make that member a worthy product of the 4-H program. These material awards in a well rounded 4-H program fall into place automatically as a symbol of work well done.

Saline and New York Avenue and property at northwest corner of Howard and New York Ave., $10.00 and other consideration.

The primary elements that we should strive for in 4-H work are citizenship, achievement, and leadership with the project serving as the hub from which these three elements arise.

I realize that these reports may affect not more than a few club members and may be unfounded but I think an appraisal of where we are going in 4-H work is always in order as we are dealing with the segment of youngsters who will be our leaders of tomorrow. A white ribbon does not spell failure, but a white ribbon attitude about it does. That is a failure that comes home to roost on the leaders' shoulders and also mine. Remember: "It is better to have run and lost than never to have run at all."

Seed Corn Available

Five 4-H members who earlier had asked for seed corn from a commercial firm to plant corn to be shown at a local corn show have not claimed their seed for various reasons. That means we have five sacks each containing enough to plant an acre or more available for 4-H members. You can pick these up at the extension office—first come, first served.

Data on Pettis County Hog Herds Is Being Accumulated

The records below are on eight hog herds whose owners are co-operating with the extension office and the animal husbandry specialists regarding hog production data. The figures are not listed to compare individual methods of handling hogs or to compare breeds. All the folks are interested in a meat type hog and in the best possible return for their time and investment. This work will not be completed until these hogs have been graded at market time. In the meantime, the extension office would like to thank the following folks for their co-operation in this effort: Paul and Bill Stephens, Wilton Edgar of the Shelton farm, Frank Sellers, Stevens McClure, L. H. and L. E. Durley and Orin Chappell. The two purebred herds of Joe Bill Reid and Kahrs Bros. are also represented in these figures.

The above figures were presented at the hog tour last Tuesday. Stops were made at Stevens McClure, Orin Chappell and Frank Sellers. Two sets of figures were presented for each farm. The first line was regarding the representative number of litters that were taken as a sample. The second line represents the heaviest weighing litter at 56 days of age.

In speaking of the records Bill Pugh, extension animal husbandman, said, "We are looking for sows that will farrow and raise big litters of pigs. That ability is inherited but in order to select from the big litters they must be earmarked as we can't remember them. Actually more than one year's records are best on each sow. Comparative weights can be taken at 21, 35 or 56 days."

"We need an intelligent method of selection," Pugh said. Besides selecting for big litters we must select for type, for a good teat line and we might do some probing for depth of back fat.

A probe was used to check thickness of backfat on a market hog at McClure's. A gilt at 200 pounds should not have over 1 1/2 inches of backfat and a boar 1.3 inches. With that combination, there is a good chance to get market hogs with not over 1 1/2 inches of backfat at meat hogs are poor "doers" but records show they are the best doers. Another false story is that some breeds have a corner on meat type. Actually there is more variation within breeds than between them. Pugh said many folks felt that they could not afford to ignore increased gains from hybrid vigor.

(crossing two breeds) so were using a two or three way cross.

In 1955, records were kept on over 800 litters of pigs in the state. These litters had 9 pigs farrowed and 8 1/2 pigs weaned. The litters averaged 285 pounds and the pigs 35 pounds. The Missouri average pig weight is 25 pounds at 56 1/2 days. Some of the Pettis County records were well above these figures while others were below.

In conclusion, Pugh said we want a hog that will make 200 pounds in six months or less and with 1 1/2 inches or less of backfat. It should cut a carcass with 29-31 inch sides that have 50 per cent of their weight in the loin, ham and two shoulder cuts.

If not enough feed is available to push the pig all the way to the market a good job of feeding should be done to 100 pounds. A good carcass will be made with limited feed from there out.

Don't feed over 1/2 to 3/4 pound of 40 per cent supplement per pig per day. All he needs besides that is corn and a mineral mixture of limestone and salt.

Having Your Own ROTO-BALER...

can help save $12 per cow each year

Feed value lost between forage in the field and hay in the manger can amount to $12 per cow annually, research workers have found.

Saving hay's rich feed value for you is the job round bales made by Roto-Baler do best. Round bales seal in protein-rich leaves—shed rain like an umbrella. What's more, they're easy to handle, too.

Start catching up on feed loss this year. Bale when your hay is best with your own ROTO-BALER built by Allis-Chalmers. Come in. Let us show you the advantages.

Goes Off Deep End for Recognition; Sets All-Wet Record With Long Skin Dive

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — (NEA) — It's nice to achieve notice in some special way, whether it be cooking, sewing or performing the latest dance step. Mrs. Barbara Jacobs of Indianapolis has gone off the deep end for her recognition. She is an unofficial champion "skin-diver."

An attractive, bespectacled brunette of 33, Mrs. Jacobs and her husband discovered the sport of skin-diving on a vacation in Florida one winter. Since then, Barbara has set a world's record for women by descending to 270 feet, 61 better than the old mark.

Ed Townsend, her tutor, started her off slowly, and by the end of her first diving year, had her accustomed to depths of 80 feet. When she was ready to try for the record, Townsend went with her to verify it.

After being transported out into the waters off Hollywood Beach, Fla., Mrs. Jacobs and teacher started down. In skin-diving, you don't dive or jump — you fall in. Loaded down with a 40-pound tank on your back, you just sit on the edge of the boat and fall—splash.

Once in, the divers followed the launch's anchor rope to the bottom. The rope was so arranged that it provided no slope, thereby giving maximum accuracy of the measurement of the dive.

Once safely past the old mark, Mrs. Jacobs signed her name to a slate on her belt, and fastened it to the rope. When the rope was pulled up and measured, her record-breaking descent was verified.

The total time consumed for Mrs. Jacobs' household-jarring trip was just nine minutes, shorter than the time required to broil a sirloin.

Barbara won't get any competition for her women's record from within the family, for all the other members are male — husband Art, and sons Don and Burt, aged four and seven, respectively.

Mrs. Jacobs plans to retire from the record-seeking end of skin-diving. She explains, "Perhaps if someone breaks my record, I might try to regain it, but otherwise there isn't much point to it."

BEE-WITCHED, BOTHERED, BEE-WILDERED — That's what residents of Pittsburgh, Pa., were when a swarm of bees settled on the curb of a busy downtown street. But Betty Finocchi, left, and John W. Roberts don't seem to mind having the little stingers all over their hands and faces. Nobody knows where the honey-makers came from or why they came.

Not So High
MUSKEGON, Mich. — Roger Sloan, 15, was pretty high on his dad's business until he tried it. Now he's not so sure.

His father, Jack, 47, is a steeple jack. He sent Roger up a 60-foot flagpole to paint the top and "everything was fine until the wind started to whip the pole," says Roger.

After sliding down the pole in a hurry, Roger said: "I think I'll wait a few years."
